Erin has significant experience handling all phases of litigation, including case evaluation, motion practice, discovery, depositions, examinations under oath, mediations, settlement negotiations, and trial preparation. Throughout her career, she has litigated thousands of insurance-related claims, analyzed policy coverage issues, advised clients on litigation strategy, and worked on complex matters involving insurance fraud investigations and large-scale settlement initiatives.

In addition to her insurance litigation practice, Erin has represented clients in matters involving commercial liability, property claims, wrongful death litigation, maritime law, and business-related disputes. Her background also includes managing her own legal practice, providing legal consulting services, and representing clients in a variety of civil and criminal matters. She is recognized for her practical approach to problem-solving, strong advocacy skills, and ability to navigate complex legal issues efficiently and effectively.

A seasoned trial attorney, Erin has taken thirty-five cases to verdict and has extensive courtroom experience handling hearings, trials, and contested litigation matters. She is committed to providing responsive client service and developing strategic solutions that advance her clients' objectives.

Erin earned her Juris Doctor from Nova Southeastern University, Shepard Broad Law Center and her Bachelor of Science in Communications from the University of Miami, where she also pursued studies in Comparative Religious Studies. She is admitted to practice before the Florida Bar, the United States District Courts for the Southern and Middle Districts of Florida, and the Supreme Court of the United States.

Her professional accomplishments include receiving the Hat Trick Award from the Broward County Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers and the Pro Bono Gold Cord Honor in recognition of her commitment to community service and legal advocacy.
